- Hydrofracking should be banned in all states. It poses ^{extreme} dangers to the land and water. The amount of energy tapped is not worth this dangerous destruction to the environment that it would cause. The evidence is there that it has caused extreme damage to the land, destruction to vital water and soil, in the other places that hydrofracking has occurred. - It would shatter resources of land that we depend on for centuries. There is no time to waste. Hydrofracking must be stopped.

I understand that my comments will be submitted to the Department of Environmental Conservation as an official public comment in response to the NYS Department of Environmental Conservation's draft Supplemental General Environmental Impact Statement regulating the use of hydrofracturing in the natural gas drilling process.
