INFORMATION, RERERRAL & EDUCATIONAL PROGRAMS FOR FAMILY CAREGIVERS

The responsibilities involved in caring for a frail older person can be tremendous. Caregivers need to develop skills in a variety of areas in order to provide quality care to the elder. In addition, from time to time important decisions need to be made which impact upon the elder's life as well as the lives of caregivers and their family members.

Several organizations are available to provide caregivers with the information and support they need to provide quality care to an older or disabled person and make informed decisions that benefit everyone. The agencies listed below can also help with planning for caregiving, which can prevent or reduce some aspects of caregiver stress.

Caregivers' Resource Center and Alzheimer's Support Unit

NY Connects/Tompkins County for the Aging (COFA)

214 W. Martin Luther King Jr/State Street

274-5492

Ithaca, NY 14850

www.tompkinscountyny.gov/cofa/care

Staff at the Office for the Aging provide information, referral, and counseling on a wide range of benefits and services for seniors. Services provided by COFA staff are free. Voluntary contributions are always welcome and are used to expand services. COFA is open Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Home visits can be arranged.

The Caregivers' Resource Center (CRC), located at the Tompkins County Office for the Aging, provides information and support to individuals concerned about or caring for an aging or disabled relative or friend, near or far. The goal of the Center is to help caregivers provide quality care to older persons while also maintaining the quality of their own lives and the lives of their family members. The Center offers information on caregiving in a variety of ways, including individual counseling, information and referral, caregiver training, a caregivers' newsletter and other publications, and caregivers fairs.

Powerful Tools for Caregivers, is a six-week series of classes for family caregivers, offered at various times and locations during the year. Books on caregiving are available for free loan and brochures are available on a variety of health issues affecting older people and their caregivers. All services are free of charge; however contributions are always welcome to expand the service.

Project CARE

Volunteers provide respite and assistance to caregivers who are caring for someone with difficulty with two or more activities of daily living (e.g., dressing, bathing, continence, transferring) or for someone who is in need of substantial supervision because of cognitive impairment. A six-page guide titled Alzheimer's Resources in Tompkins County lists agencies and services of interest to those caring for loved ones with Alzheimer's Disease or related disorders. It can be viewed online at www.tompkinscountyny.gov/cofa/local/resources.

COUNSELING OPPORTUNITIES

If you are a family caregiver, you may find the experience rewarding; you may at times be feeling stressed, overwhelmed, angry, or guilty. No one has said it is easy to sort out our relationships with family members. It is, of course, a lifetime activity. But mental health professionals tell us that longstanding problems often crop up again in caregiving situations. Understanding that this is not unusual, and understanding the changes that caregiving and infirmity bring to family relationships, can make life more positive and acceptable. Much more difficult to face is seeing a loved one we once knew as strong become debilitated. Not all of us are prepared to face this without help.

Many caregivers also need support to value and care for themselves. Caregivers are often pulled between the needs of the care-receiver, the needs of other family members, or responsibilities of a job, and are unable to find the time or energy to deal with their own personal needs. This self-neglect too often has dire consequences for the caregiver's mental or physical health. Discussing your concerns with a professional counselor can help you to deal with your situation and learn how to improve it. There are several counseling opportunities for caregivers in Tompkins County.

Caregiver Counseling and/Consultation

Meetings held ordinarily in the office, but special circumstances may be considered for in-home service. No charge. Contributions are requested to expand the service.

In-Home Counseling for Older Adults– The Seniors Services Program of Family & Children's also offers individual counseling to older adults experiencing a wide range of difficulties. For elders unable to access needed services due to health problems or limitations of mobility, counseling services may be provided at home.

LEGAL AND FINANCIAL RESOURCES

Legal and financial issues are sometimes confusing but necessary aspects of caring for a frail older person. Planning ahead in these areas enables the caregiver to use the older person's resources to provide the best quality care, particularly if and when the older person becomes unable to make decisions for her/himself. Possible legal arrangements that can be made include the durable power of attorney, health care proxy, living will and others. In the financial realm, it is important for caregivers to understand Social Security, Medicare, Medicare Supplement policies and Medicaid. Other programs of financial assistance may assist when the budget is limited.

Directory of Senior Housing Facilities

Subsidized Apartments

The apartments mentioned in this guide have been especially designed for independent senior citizens. They offer many features that are attractive to older residents such as laundry facilities, extra security and safety features, and the opportunity to live with other senior citizens.

The apartment complexes have generally been subsidized by various federal agencies. This accounts for the variation in income level stipulations and rental rates.

For your information, in 1983 Congress enacted a statute allowing residents of rental housing for the elderly or handicapped to have common household pets. Application of this policy differs from complex to complex. We suggest that you call and inquire if this is an area of interest to you.

LONG DISTANCE CAREGIVING

Providing care for an elderly person from a distance presents a unique challenge. Gathering information about the older person's situation, helping her/him make decisions about the future and providing emotional support are as important as providing care.

Open communication among everyone involved and planning ahead can help avoid complications in the future. An important part of long-term planning is gathering information about services and programs in the older person's community. If you have Internet access, you may be able to find information about long-term care services in another state by searching to see if the county Area Agency on Aging has a web page listing those resources.

Eldercare Locator 1-800-677-1116
www.eldercare.gov

One service available to long distance caregivers is the Eldercare Locator. The Eldercare Locator is a national toll-free number that helps caregivers identify the most appropriate organization for information and assistance in the older person's community. Call 1-800-677-1116 Monday through Friday, between 9 a.m. and 11 p.m., Eastern Standard Time, for assistance. Please have the following information ready when you call: (1) The name and address of the older person you are assisting including the zip code. (2) A brief and general description of the problem or type of assistance you are seeking.

NY Connects/Tompkins County for the Aging

214 W. Martin Luther King Jr/State Street..... 274-5482
Ithaca, NY 14850 www.tompkinscountyny.gov/cofa

The Office for the Aging maintains a directory of contact people in County Offices for the Aging nationwide. A simple telephone call can provide detailed information about services available where the older person lives, regardless of what part of the state or country. A consultation with staff of the Caregivers' Resource Center may also be helpful in your decision-making process. The Resource Center also has a lending library of books and other resources for caregivers as well as free, easy-to-read brochures.

LONG-TERM CARE COMMUNITY SUPPORT SERVICES

A variety of other services are available to help meet the physical, psychological, and social needs of frail elderly living in the community. These services can also be of tremendous help to caregivers, easing some of the responsibilities of providing care. The first section that follows lists available community resources in the areas of home health care, nutrition, transportation, safety, socialization, etc. The second section contains a listing of in-home support and nursing services. For further information, consult the Long Term Support Services in Tompkins County booklet in the Office for the Aging booklet series.

IN-HOME CARE

A variety of agencies offer home care service. Home care may be scheduled as needed from several hours per week to 24 hours a day. Costs vary depending on the agency and the services performed. Generally, home care is provided by a registered nurse (RN), licensed practical nurse (LPN), home health aide (HHA), personal care aide (PCA), homemaker, or companion.

*Hiring someone to provide care in the home, either from an agency or privately, is an individual decision. Home care agencies are responsible for training, scheduling, supervising, arranging for substitutes, and employee benefits for personnel they employ. Payment to an agency is made either by the family or a third party such as Medicare, Medicaid, or an insurance company. Private home care arrangements generally cost less than hiring through an agency; however, the patient or family assumes responsibility for paying social security taxes, disability, and other employer responsibilities. For further information, consult the Long Term Support Services in Tompkins County booklet in the Office for the Aging series.*

RESPIRE AND ADULT DAY PROGRAMS

Taking care of an elderly family member at home can be a 24-hour-a-day, 365-day-a-year commitment. Providing this care places considerable stress on spouses, adult children, and friends who must manage other family and work obligations as well. Respite services offer family caregivers temporary relief from the responsibilities of caring for a physically or emotionally dependent person, and also provide the care-receiver with social opportunities. There are three types of respite services available to caregivers in Tompkins County: in-home respite, overnight respite, and adult day programs. One or more of these services may be just what you need to take care of yourself!

(Social Adult Day Program)

Longview Adult Day Program

Many Tompkins County families have grown to include grandparents. But with today's busy, two-career lifestyle, it's often impossible for someone to be home all day providing companionship and ensuring the safety and security of older adults (age 55+). Spousal caregivers may also benefit from some respite from caregiving. Longview's Adult Day Community is one possible solution. The daily fee includes personal supervision and recreational programs, as well as morning and afternoon snacks and a hot, nutritious lunch. $50/ day.

Participants can attend all five days, or just certain days of the week.

Overnight Respite

Assisted Living Level of Care

Short-term stays are allowed on a space-available basis at Brookdale Senior Living, Longview, Bridges Cornell Heights, as well as most of the smaller, family-type, adult care homes locally (see page 20-21). You may also want to look at places in nearby counties if space is not available at local residences. Charges generally include meals, housekeeping, help with bath and medications, and recreational programming. Respite residents must have enough self-care skills to qualify for residential care.

Higher Level of Care

Those who do not have self-care skills to qualify for an adult home level of care can consider two other options for overnight respite:

Cayuga Ridge and Beechtree skilled nursing facilities

Both accept short term admissions for respite purposes on a space-available basis. A nursing home assessment and doctor's orders are needed. Contact the nursing home well before the date respite care is needed.

Veterans may be eligible for a respite stay at a Veteran's Administration residential care facility. In Tompkins County, contact the VA Counseling Center (255-8719, open only on Wednesdays, 9:30 am -3:30 pm) to discuss eligibility and how to apply or call the national VA Caregiver Support Line at 1-855-260-3274. Go online to learn about VA caregiver support at www.caregiver.va.gov/.

FOR EMPLOYED CAREGIVERS

Due to economic necessity and greater opportunities in the workplace, more and more caregivers, particularly daughters with young children, are working outside the home. Juggling work and family responsibilities can be a tremendous challenge. It is important for working caregivers to seek out and receive the support that they need.

Employers are beginning to recognize eldercare as an important concern for their employees which may affect productivity. Policies to inquire about and advocate for (if your employer does not already have them) include flexible working hours, flexible benefits, family leave, and contracted programs such as information and referral, adult day care, workshops and support groups.

Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA)

The Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA) covers employers of more than 50 employees (at the worksite or within 75 miles thereof). Since 1993, the FMLA has entitled qualified employees, who have been employed for at least 12 months and who have worked at least 1,250 hours during the 12-month period, to up to 12 weeks of unpaid leave per year for the birth or adoption of a child, to care for a spouse or an immediate family member with a serious health condition, or when unable to work because of a serious health condition.

The employer is required to maintain any per-existing health coverage during the leave period and, once the leave period is concluded, to reinstate the employee to the same or an equivalent job.

Employee Assistance Program (EAP)

Some employers provide individual counseling for employees. Employee Assistance Program provides free, confidential counseling to help you explore options when problems seem too confusing or painful to solve alone. EAP's offer a wide range of services for personal and work related concerns, including eldercare concerns.

Employees can make use of the EAP on their own initiative, or may be referred by a supervisor who believes that the program could be helpful. Your counseling is confidential and information is not shared with anyone unless you request otherwise.

The Caregivers' Resource Center at the Office for the Aging has printed materials on issues related to balancing work and caregiving.
